The employees of Leggette, Brashears & Graham, Inc. (LBG) have repeatedly demonstrated dedication to improving the environment of South Dakota. LBG is responsible for the groundwater monitoring programs at several South Dakota subtitle D landfills. In addition, LBG has developed groundwater and surface water monitoring strategies for some of the old closed landfills and been innovative in the use of trees and Mother Nature to remediate leachate spills. LBG has always been supportive of educating solid waste workers in understanding the fascinating relationships of various constituents of groundwater and groundwater movement. For all these services, LBG is truly a champion of both the environment and the solid waste industry.
